Saud Wants No Red Arms Deal

Depends On U. S. For Military Aid

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—King Saud was reported today to have assured President Eisenhower that Saudi Arabia wants no part of any Soviet arms deal and still looks to the United States for military aid.

This was understood to be one of the basic agreements in principle arrived at by Eisenhower and Saud during three days of talks last week.

These conversations were held in what the Arabs called "an atmosphere of warm cordiality." Aides of both countries already have begun detailed discussions, getting down to dollars and cents.

Agreement Expected

Eisenhower and Saud are described as satisfied that, after their final meeting next Friday, they can announce agreement on the heart of their talks.

1. An extension, probably of five years, of the arrangement under which the U. S. Air Force uses Dhahran airfield in Saudi Arabia.

2. Stepped-up military aid, meaning faster training so as possibly to double the 15,000-man Saudi Arabian military force over a period of several years; at least a dozen F86 jet planes to start modernizing the Saudi air force, and more and bigger tanks.

Officials said Saud made clear to Eisenhower he had no intention of trying to buy arms from the Soviet bloc, as Egypt and Syria have done. Saud told Eisenhower, they said, that his country wants to continue receiving its arms from the United States.

Saud Turned Down Aid Pact

Saud buys his guns, tanks, and planes from America. The King was offered a military defense assistance pact, under which he could have received arms free, but declined it. The objection was to signing a formal treaty which would give U. S. technicians a broad control over distribution of the weapons.

However, officials indicated they expect to get around this objection after Congress approves Eisenhower's Middle East program. Among other things this would allow Eisenhower to give defense aid to Saudi Arabia and other anti-Communist countries in the area without requiring a treaty.

Guard Building Burns

March 1 Target Date For Senate Rights Debate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) today put a March 1 target date on efforts to get President Eisenhower's civil rights program before the Senate for debate.

Knowland, the Republican leader, told reporters the Senate may have to "wear down" an expected Southern filibuster against consideration of the bill if the necessary 64 affirmative votes can't be mustered to muzzle debate.

By whatever means the end is accomplished, he said he is confident that civil rights legislation will be enacted in this session of Congress.

Democratic leaders were reported less optimistic than Knowland about early Senate action. They apparently believed the civil rights measure would not be brought up in the Senate until late in April.

Chairman Hennings (D-Mo) has ordered committee hearings on civil rights proposals beginning Feb. 12. Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), who voted against a proposal last week by Hennings to report a civil rights bill out of a Judiciary subcommittee without hearings, said he will oppose any effort to drag the hearings out.

Sen. Johnson Would Widen Visit Program

"Nothing To Hide, Plenty To Show," Demo Leader Says

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) urged the State Department today to expand its program of inviting Middle Eastern leaders to the United States.

Johnson, the Senate's Democratic leader, told reporters he believes "a basis for more realistic relations" had been laid with Saudi Arabia by the visit here of King Saud.

"Other visits by Middle Eastern leaders are scheduled and I believe that nothing could be healthier for our country," Johnson said. "Unlike the Russians, we have nothing to hide and plenty to show and we should take advantage of that fact."

Saud's Visit Drew Criticism

The Texas senator said he had urged the State Department to schedule more similar visits because he felt that Middle East leaders "cannot help but be impressed by a first-hand view of American life."

Saud's visit has drawn fire from some prominent officials, notably Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner Jr. of New York City and Republican Sen. Javits of New York. Javits raised the issue that American Jews have been barred from the U. S. air base in Saudi Arabia.

Johnson, who has attended some of the state dinners given for and by King Saud, said he was not informed of any specific invitations to other heads of states in the Middle East area.

Iraq Prince Arrives

Crown Prince Abdul Ilah of Iraq has arrived in this country on an unofficial visit and is scheduled to confer with Washington officials this week.

Asked how he stood on inviting Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia, President Nasser of Egypt and Premier David Ben-Gurion of Israel, Johnson replied he was not going to talk about individuals but he had one position for all: "I am not fearful of anyone's having a look at America. I think our form of government will stand inspection."

The Democratic leader said that by issuing such invitations the United States does not "express approval or disapproval of their governments."

Turk Cypriots Attack Greeks

NICOSIA, Cyprus, Feb. 3 (AP)—A Turkish Cypriot mob went on a rampage of stoning and burning today in the Greek quarter of the east coast port of Famagusta.

Defying a British curfew, about 100 Turks attacked a hospital and a church, set fire to a warehouse and stoned a private clinic. At least 12 persons were injured.

Terrified nurses at the hospital sounded an alarm after a doctor's car and a number of bicycles were smashed. Greek church bells were rung to summon Greek Cypriots to defend their homes.

But the Turkish mob moved on to a house and beat up a mother and four children, police said. The Turks entered a citrus warehouse, attacked seven Greek packers, and set the building afire.

The Turks were returning from the funeral of a Turkish policeman killed last night, presumably by Greek EOKA terrorists who demand union of Cyprus with Greece.

The British had alerted their forces after the killing of the policeman, expecting trouble.

Pilot Of Crashed Airliner Unable To Explain Turn

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP)—The pilot of a crashed Northeast Airlines plane said today that although the ship appeared to be functioning normally on takeoff, he had no explanation of why it made a sharp turn to the left.

The pilot, Capt. Alva R. Marsh, also said that contrary to previous reports he had experienced no power loss in the plane's engines on taking off.

Twenty persons died when the ship crashed Friday night on Rikers Island, 12 seconds after taking off from LaGuardia Field. Many of the 81 survivors were burned severely.

Marsh said there was no "feel" of the plane being off balance as it left the field. Asked if he was "turning to the left after the takeoff" Marsh replied: "I was making no attempt to turn."

The plane, however, turned about 180 degrees to the left. Alfred A. Lane, Northeast vice president who relayed Marsh's answers to prepared questions, said the pilot could give no explanation for the turn.

Marsh is being kept "in seclusion" by the airline company. Lane said the pilot did not know he was about to crash until Basil Dixwell, the copilot, shouted, "Ground coming up."

After the crash Marsh was quoted as saying: "I just couldn't get her up. Her power just drained out, but none of the instruments showed it. She just wouldn't go up."

Ike's Advisers Still Undecided On Credit Curbs

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers is trying to decide whether Eisenhower should ask Congress for standby authority to control consumer credit.

Dr. Raymond J. Saulnier, chairman of the three-member council told this to the Senate-House Economic Committee at a closed hearing last Monday. With Saulnier's approval, the committee today made public his testimony, which dealt with Eisenhower's annual economic report to Congress.

Saulnier disclosed that the Federal Reserve Board has completed an extensive study of consumer credit which it undertook last year at the council's request.

"As soon as we can," he testified, "we must reach a conclusion on whether Congress should be asked to grant the President standby authority to control consumer's credit."

He said he expected it would be some weeks before a decision is reached.

Eisenhower, in his 1957 economic report, did not renew a request he made last year that Congress consider providing him with standby powers to control consumer credit.

Curbs Lifted In 1952

Congress took no action then but the Federal Reserve Board went ahead with what Saulnier called a "very large investigation" of consumer credit.

Saulnier's predecessor, Dr. Arthur F. Burns, was reported last year to have favored standby control authority after the car-buying "binge" of 1955.

Government regulation of consumer credit terms, imposed in World War II and the Korean War was lifted in 1952.

Woman Suffocated Beneath Hay Pile

NEW WINDSOR, Md., Feb. 3 (AP)—The recent wet weather has been blamed for the odd death of Miss Nellie Haines, 60, of near Gypsy Hill.

Miss Haines was found suffocated beneath a large pile of hay Friday night after she had gone to bed down some cows. County Medical Examiner James T. Marsh said the weather apparently had caused the hay to fall.

Newsman Who Defied Ban Reaches Moscow

MOSCOW, Feb. 3 (AP)—Reporter William Worth of the Baltimore Afro-American, who defied a U. S. State Department ban on visiting Red China, arrived in Moscow tonight from Peking.

Worthy, who spent more than a month in China, declined comment on landing at a Moscow airport. He is expected to spend a few days here before heading home.

President Flies Back To Capital

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower returned to Washington today after a brief stay at the Augusta, Ga., National Golf Club.

Eisenhower's plane, Columbine III, landed at National Airport at 4:53 p.m. after a 95-minute flight from Augusta.

The President got in a round of golf before leaving Georgia. He waited out a heavy fog before playing 18 holes. The sun was shining when the President left Augusta but his plane landed in Washington under grey skies.

On the flight from Washington yesterday the President was accompanied by Secretary of Defense Wilson and the cabinet officer's wife—central figures with Eisenhower in the controversy touched off by Wilson's assertion there was draft dodging in National Guard enlistments during the Korean War.

The Wilson's flew on to Florida in the President's plane for a vacation.

Hungarian Reds Seize Students

BUDAPEST, Feb. 3 (AP)—Communist Hungary announced new arrests of students today on the eve of the reopening of Budapest University, where the October revolt against Russia began.

It looked as if the regime was afraid trouble might start again.

No figure was given on the number in prison. The latest group of several students is accused of taking part in "illegal counter-revolutionary organizations and crimes against the state."

Police said a search in university dormitories brought to light Tommy guns, pistols and ammunition as well as anti-Communist leaflets, "press material, records and looted property."

Lectures are due to start tomorrow. The arrests were accompanied by warnings to the students against trying any political demonstrations with the threat that the university might be closed again.

Nehru Urging Soviet To Ease Up On Hungary

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Feb. 3 (AP)—An authoritative diplomatic source here said today Prime Minister Nehru of India is quietly putting pressure on the Soviet Union to change its attitude toward Hungary.

The Indian leader, this informant said, has told the Kremlin no permanent, peaceful settlement in that rebellious satellite can be obtained until the Soviet leadership recognizes the national, patriotic character of the Hungarian revolution.

Talk of the Indian attitude, which is believed to have considerable influence on certain Kremlin leaders, circulated among diplomats from six West European countries assembled in the Belgian capital for a meeting at which they will try to remove snags from proposed customs union and atomic pool agreements among France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

Chief spokesman for impressing Nehru's views on the Russians was reported to be the Indian ambassador to Moscow, K. P. S. Menon, a veteran diplomat who is believed to have played a vital role in formulation of the Nehru position on these questions.

Fumes Overcome 12 In Church Basement

ROBINSON, Ill., Feb. 3 (AP)—A Sunday school teacher and 11 children were overcome today by fumes from a heater in a church basement.

All were reported recovering after treatment for carbon monoxide inhalation.

Their plight was discovered by the Rev. William Frank Sipes, pastor of the Full Gospel Assembly church, when he went to the basement. He summoned aid from others on the first floor, and carried the children and Jack Wells, the teacher, outdoors.

Cancer-Causing Chemical Which Can Be Filtered Out Found In Cigaret Smoke

PARIS, Feb. 3 (AP)—A French-educated Vietnamese scientist working with the help of American money was credited today with discovering a substance in cigarette smoke which invariably causes cancer in mice when injected into them.

But, a report adds, the chemical can be filtered out of the smoke.

Discovery of how quickly—and surely—this substance causes cancer in mice was made by Dr. Nguyen-Phoc Buu Hoi, 41. The discovery has just been announced in a paper published by the French Academy of Science. The paper says the substance was isolated in the smoke and tested by Dr. Buu Hoi after lengthy experiments in the laboratory of the Radium Institute of the University of Paris.

The chemical has the curious identification of 3-4-9-10 dibenzopyrene. It develops only when tobacco is burned in smoking. It is one of scores of chemicals making up the "tar" in burning tobacco that long has been suspected of increasing the number of lung cancer victims among smokers.

Dr. Buu Hoi said it should not be difficult to work out a filter to fit cigarette holders which would screen out the dibenzopyrene. It liquefies readily as the smoke cools, making it easy to soak up in filters.

College Girl Dies In Plane Crash Near Johnstown

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Feb. 3 (AP)—A Cessna cabin plane returning three college girls from a weekend trip in Ohio crashed in a wooded area 10 miles north of here today, killing one girl and injuring two others and the pilot.

Police said the craft apparently went too low in an attempt to get under a low ceiling and crashed in an attempted forced landing. The plane was demolished when it hit several big trees.

The dead girl was Frieda Hensler, 18, of Irwin, Pa.

Injured were Ralph D. Fox, 40, the pilot, of Elyria, Ohio; his daughter, Ruth, 18, and Mary Taliak, 18, of Parma, Ohio.

Police said the three girls were registered at Allegheny College in Meadville. They had been visiting the Fox home in Ohio.

Guard Takes Training Fight To Ike Today

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3 (AP)—Four representatives of the National Guard Assn. will present to President Eisenhower tomorrow the guard's argument against requiring its new enlistees to take six months of basic training.

Controversy over a recent Pentagon decision to impose this requirement led Secretary of Defense Wilson to make his now-famous remark last Monday about National Guard enlistments being "a sort of scandal... a draft-dodging business" during the Korean War.

Maj. Gen. E. A. Walsh, president of the guard association, did not refer to the Wilson row in seeking the appointment for association leaders to meet with Eisenhower.

May Come Up At Meeting

It thus seemed unlikely the subject would come up at tomorrow's White House meeting unless Eisenhower himself raised the point.

Walsh said Wilson's remark, made in testimony before the House Armed Services Committee was "a damn lie." Eisenhower told a news conference Wednesday that Wilson's statement was "unwise," although he backed the defense secretary's contention that guard enlistees 17 to 18½ years old ought to get six months basic training instead of the present 11 weeks.

Criticism 'Of System'

Wilson said Friday his controversial statement was intended as criticism "of a system that tends to perpetuate" what he called the guard's "low standard of training and readiness."

The Pentagon proposes to bolster the guard's training by making all new enlistees serve six months on active duty. A similar active duty program for young men who enlist directly in the Army reserves was approved by Congress last year but the number of enlistees so far has disappointed the Pentagon.

Algerian Nationalist Bombs Kill Seven

ALGIERS, Feb. 3 (AP)—Algerian Nationalists struck with bombs and grenades today, the eve of United Nations debate on their two-year rebellion against French rule.

Seven French Jews were killed when a powerful bomb wrecked an European apartment building in Nedromah, an Arab town near Algeria's western frontier with Morocco.

Another bomb wrecked part of the Nedromah police headquarters, but there were no casualties. A third bomb was found and dismantled before it exploded.

Troops Will Stay In Gaza, Aqaba Areas

Government Also Refuses To Accept Dag's Peace Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Feb. 3 (AP)—Israel's Cabinet decided today to keep troops in the Gaza Strip and on the Gulf of Aqaba for the present despite a U. N. General Assembly resolution calling a sixth time for their withdrawal.

An Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman in Jerusalem said the Cabinet took its firm stand because "no guarantees have been obtained yet for definite stoppage of Egypt's belligerency and sea blockade of Israel."

Israel also stuck to its own plan for peace in both occupied areas in the face of a second resolution endorsing U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's rival plan.

Hammarskjold sent Egypt and Israel copies of both resolutions, adopted late last night.

Dag, Israelis To Confer

He invited members of the Israeli delegation to meet with him tomorrow. But he was understood to be marking time on concrete steps to carry out his plan until Israel withdraws.

An informed Arab source said he believes Egypt eventually will accept Hammarskjold's suggestion that U. N. observers be stationed on the Gulf of Aqaba to prevent clashes.

This would forestall, at least temporarily, the renewal of Egypt's blockade of Israeli shipping there. Israel demands that its shipping not be intercepted before pulling its troops from the western shore of the gulf.

Israeli troops were still in the Gaza Strip and in the Sharm el Sheikh area on the Gulf of Aqaba, where Egyptian coastal guns long prevented shipping from passing between the Red Sea and Israel's port of Eilat.

'Grounds For Some Hope'

It was problematical whether they would pull out. Before voting against the first resolution and abstaining on the second last night, Israeli Ambassador Abba S. Eban said Israel still stood by its Jan. 23 proposals that it be allowed to go on running the Gaza Strip and that U. N. forces guard freedom of navigation in the Gulf of Aqaba. But Israeli circles hailed passage of the two resolutions together as a clear victory for a principle of "withdrawal plus related measures."

One diplomat involved in sponsoring both said this gave "grounds for some hope" that Israel would withdraw.

German Doctor Visits Moscow Mystery Patient

MOSCOW, Feb. 3 (AP)—A hurriedly summoned German blood specialist held a two-hour consultation with Soviet doctors today about a mystery patient in a Moscow hospital. The German said afterward he was unable to identify the patient—presumed to be an important official—but said it was "a life or death case."

Dr. Hans Joachim Schulten of Cologne told a reporter, "I asked them at the hospital who he was but they said they could not tell me. They said it was a secret."

He said the only clues he had were:

1. The patient is in his mid-50's and in critical condition. The doctor said he did not recognize the patient during a morning visit, and thought he would have if the sick man had been one of the ruling Soviet hierarchy.

2. He is sufficiently important to rate a three-room suite in a well-appointed hospital and a medical consultation of 9 or 10 doctors.

3. The disease is a blood disease not associated with atomic radiation. He declined to identify the disease on the ground of medical ethics but said Soviet doctors had diagnosed it correctly. He emphasized that it had nothing to do with atomic or nuclear research.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3 (AP)—The New York Daily News said today in a dispatch from Washington that Dr. Hans Joachim Schulten of Cologne is in Moscow to treat Soviet Deputy Premier Lazar M. Kaganovich who has been shot and is near death.

It said Khrushchev and Bulganin ordered Kaganovich shot, but "something went wrong."

Maryland Needs 3,800 Teachers To Fill Demand

High Pay Noted In Other Fields

FROSTBURG — Roy Pepper, public relations chairman for the Teachers Association, has revealed the following additional statistics concerning the teacher shortage in Maryland.

Pepper's report pointed out that each year for the next five years the state must have 3,800 new qualified teachers to educate the vast number of children who will be enrolled in its schools.

There are, he said, at present only 1,120 persons who will graduate as prospective teachers in 1957.

In continuing his report he pointed out that higher salaries in other occupations hire away many present and prospective teachers. While more and more young people are going to colleges other more lucrative professions and positions are drawing their services he said. Among these are: Engineering (men) beginning salaries average $4,928; Science (women) $4,296; Salesmen (men) $4,296; General Business (men) $4,176; and mathematics-statistics (women) $3,960.

The State of Maryland has a beginning salary of $2,800 Pepper pointed out with the counties and Baltimore City paying higher scales in order to meet demands for teachers. Therefore the average beginning salary for teachers in Maryland is $3,480, supported mainly by the counties and Baltimore City.

In closing, he said that in some states, the beginning salary is $4,000 or over and teachers have an opportunity to earn up to $7,700. In these states the shortage is not a very serious one and if Maryland had a $4,000 beginning salary it would be in a position to compete with other fields in attracting youth to the teaching profession.

Pepper is a junior high teacher in Beall Elementary School and a graduate of State Teachers College.

Soviets Blast U.S. Red Party

MOSCOW, Feb. 3 (AP)—The newspaper Soviet Russia today blasted what it labeled the right wing of the American Communist party.
The attack in the official organ of the Russian Republic Bureau of the Soviet Communist party struck out at what it called the propagation of "bourgeois nationalism disguised in Communist terminology" in American Red ranks.
The attack hit the badly split
American Communist party less than a week before it meets in a national convention.
The move seemed intended to strengthen the hands of those elements in the party still completely loyal to Soviet leadership of the international Communist movement.
Soviet Russia said "rightist elements" of the American party are claiming that Bolshevism was "born in a specific Russian atmosphere not directly connected with Marxist works."
It said they have "undertaken
a revision of Marxism-Leninism and are attacking Leninism as a specific Russian phenomenon."
The article, signed by T. Timofeyev, described "national communist which retains some independence from the Moscow leadership—as "a refined form of bourgeois nationalism disguised in Communist terminology."
Soviet Russia also attacked Secretary of State Dulles. It charged Dulles was "playing with the idea of distinguishing between international communism and national communism."

Weary Firemen Battle Stubborn Pittsburgh Blaze

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 3 (AP)—A smoldering fire that had been eating away the interior of a six-story brick building in downtown Pittsburgh since early morning broke through tonight to buildings on either side.
At least 11 firemen had been injured since the fire started.
Weary firemen who had been at the scene since 4:30 a.m. immediately turned in a fifth alarm.
Fire Chief Stephen Adley said "it's a precautionary measure. We want to get out reserves."
A short time later firemen said the new break-throughs were not as bad as first appeared.
The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette said damage probably will exceed a million dollars.
The slow-burning blaze covered much of the downtown area with heavy clouds of smoke much of the day. Firemen said they were not immediately able to find the main source of the flames.
The structures on either side of the fire-gutted building are brick.
They already had suffered heavy damage from smoke and water.
One of the buildings houses the Baldwin Piano firm. Firemen were told that more than a million dollars worth of pianos are stored in the structure.

Stolen Classified Papers Recovered

CHICAGO, Feb. 3 (AP)—"Classified secret documents" stolen from a physicist in a Chicago railroad station Wednesday while en route to a guided missile station apparently have been recovered intact, the FBI announced today.
Donald S. Hostetter, Chicago
FBI chief, said Edward A. Mark, janitor of a South Side apartment building, reported he found them while cleaning the building's basement.
The brief case containing the documents, which belonged to Dr.
Fletcher C. Paddison of Bethesda, Md., is still missing along with an electric shaver and shirt which Paddison said were in the case.
Hostetter said the documents, which he described as "mostly classified secret," are "as far as we are able to determine, intact."

P. Mahoney's left foot, overworked during his unsuccessful campaign hurt. Recently it had become swollen.

A Mahoney spokesman said
there was no break or sprain, merely a strain. Doctors put a walking cast on it.

Secrets Of Charm by John Robert Powers

Do You Have Your Share Of Friends?
Why do some people have so many more friends than others?
Is it because they have a natural talent for making friends?
Isn't it, instead, because they develop this rewarding talent?
Everyone can be said to have it, because everyone is naturally interested in others and likes to be liked.
The art of making friends is just that, an art. Granted that the talent's there, what's the first thing to do about it to make it count more than it ever has before? Think about the best-liked person you know, one whose worth plainly goes deeper than surface popularity. Isn't an outstanding characteristic of hers an open-minded, interested approach to all kinds of people? The person who is liked by many never overlooks the possibility of friendship with others who are not her age, whose work or special interests are different from hers, who do not share her viewpoints.
The trouble so often with those who have few friends is that they are uninterested in anyone who isn't more than a little like themselves. Reach out of this attitude from the start. Those who are different from ourselves enrich our lives in many ways. Their different points of view give us something to think about besides our own. People who have many friends know this well, and find the making of friends discovery and adventure. Be willing to listen to and learn from others and soon you'll be eager to, with accompanying gains in others' regard for you.

And when I mentioned the friendly person's open-minded approach to others, I used the word approach adverbially. It isn't possible to wait to be approached every time and be a person who has many friends. Do some of

Television And Radio

Gayety, Glamour And Heart-Shaped Bathtubs

From Beverly Hills by long distance telephone came the menacing voice of an actor I know. "We're all waiting, Crosby," he snarled, to see whether you're going to be as rough on those newspapermen as you'd be on us actors if we had stunk up the air the way they did." There was no point in asking him which program he meant. There could only be one—the now "Tonight" or, as it's subtitled, "America After Dark."

There are a whole mess of newspaper columnists involved in this terrible enterprise — Earl Wilson and Hy Gardner of New York; Irv Kupcinet of Chicago; Paul Coates and Vernon Scott of Hollywood, and Bob Considine who I guess, represents America at large — and the kindest thing I can say about them is that they would be among the first to denounce the program if they weren't on it.

I've seen two "Tonights" and I can best describe them by picking out a few highlights. On the first one, Dean Martin was persuaded to talk about an article written about his former partner Jerry Lewis: "That article is full of lies. Only one thing true about it and that is that he wrote it." There was lots more, all rather horrifying. In Kansas, Alf M. Landon told Bob Considine of the Democrats who finally elected a governor in Kansas: "Well, they're eating pretty high off the hog now but by 1958 they'll be up salt creek."

In Hollywood, Jayne Mansfield, in a sepulchral whisper that may have been her dying breath or may on the other hand have been the way she thinks busty blondes have to talk, confided to Scott that she was going to build a heart-shaped house and a heart-shaped bathtub for two. Kupcinet broke in from Chicago to ask about her weight-lifting and what it did for her. "It's brought out quite a few of my finer points," murmured Miss Jayne. "It straightens things and puts things in the right places."

In New York, a baby was born within camera range of Hy Gardner. The baby sensibly clamped up but Gardner didn't. "You've certainly proved one thing, that certain people do get born in New York," cried Gardner. "And now back to Jack Lescaulie."

The "And now we take you to"

bit was heard again and again and again. They took us to Chicago and Kansas City and Hollywood, to the Harwyn, the Beverly Hilton, to Radio City, to a maternity ward while Lescaulie burred "Exciting things are happening" and "It's all live and it's all happening on Tonight!" The trouble is that nothing special was happening, at least not on the show. There were parties in three cities but apart from making singularly ill-advised remarks, the people did nothing but drink. And while I'm well aware that vicarious pleasures are among television's chief attractions, I don't think vicarious drinking is going to catch on. You got to do your own.

The second night of "excitement and gayety and glamour" (Mr. Lescaulie's words, not mine) was not quite so dull and tasteless and pointless as the first night, largely because it just wasn't possible. Lescaulie interviewed Eli Wallach about movie acting and this was interesting and could have gone on longer. Later, Wallach did a reading about the joys and torments of acting and this was offbeat and absorbing. Kupcinet landed on the Merchandise Mart in Chicago in a helicopter and we learned a little about Chicago's growing helicopter taxi service.

But then we got back into one of those bloody parties from Hollywood. Among the glamorous, gay, exciting people there were Jolie Gabor, Linda Darnell and Ann Miller, and mostly they all talked at once. This was a lucky thing because the few coherent lines that emerged from the babble will not be quoted in all the anthologies. This bit closed with a lecture on what every young mother should know from Maria Gabor which was totally unintelligible and may conceivably have been delivered in Hungarian.

The best part of the two nights was a visit with Paul Coates to a legal gambling joint in California where bored housewives play poker. I didn't know such joints existed and Coates, an old pro at this sort of thing, brought out the salient features of the place and the people who run it and inhabit it.

But then just as my spirits started to lift, we were wafted back to New York and George Gobel asking Joan Crawford if she slept in pajamas. And the next night, Earl Wilson got his hair dyed red in a beauty parlor, setting back journalism 200 years.

WEEKLY BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:
AKQ 10 7 6 ♥ 7 ♦ AQ5 AK 9 7
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 spade Pass 2 hearts Pass

What do you bid now?

A—While all the suits are stopped a rebid of two no trump is not recommended because the hand is not strong enough to justify such action. Very little over a minimum is held and a rebid of two spades does justice to the holding. To qualify as a sound rebid of two no trump, the opening hand must have at least 15 high card points.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
AKJ10 ♥ QJ 10 6 ♦ A10 5 ♠ A 7 4
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 spade Pass 2 hearts 3
What do you bid?

A—Nothing. You might as well accept a short game. You have no reason to feel confident that you can make three of anything with this unattractive distribution and a double by you would obligate partner to bid.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
AKQ 8 6 4 ♥ 7 3 ♦ Q 6 ♠ AK 7 5
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
Pass Pass 1 spade Pass
2 no trump Pass
What do you bid now?

A—After partner's previous pass his jump to two no trump is not forcing. But there is no doubt that we shall nevertheless proceed to game. However, an effort should be made to find the safest contract. The suggested call is a bid of three clubs. If partner returns to three spades we shall go on to four. If he persists to three no trump, then surely that will be the best final contract.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
A 7 2 ♥ K 9 7 5 3 ♦ K 4 ♠ A 7 4 2
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 club Pass 2 no trump Pass
3 spades Pass 4 spades Pass
What do you bid now?

A—This hand stands a very good chance of producing five or six tricks for partner and consequently is on the verge of a slam. The best way to indicate such a holding is by a big jump in hearts. Our own preference is for five hearts. However, the situation may be handled adequately by first responding with three hearts, intending to make a leap beyond game on the next round.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
AKJ 9 6 4 ♥ K 3 ♦ AKQ 7 4 3 2
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 club Pass 2 no trump Pass
3 spades Pass 4 spades Pass
What do you bid now?

A—Pass. You have already done your full duty by this hand and should not be unduly influenced by the distributional features which you have already described. Your hand is quite minimum as to high cards and you may assume that partner is on guard that you may have a 6-5 distribution. His response of one heart has done nothing to improve your hand and any slam suggestion should come from him if there is to be a sound play for it.

Q. 6—You are South and have 60 part score:
A 7 4 2 ♥ Q 10 6 3 2 ♦ A 7 6 5 3
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 heart Pass 2 hearts Pass
What do you bid now?

A—Call me timid if you choose but my vote is for a pass. It is my practice to go to great limits to keep the bidding open when an advanced part score is held, but this is "sporing" set in by virtue of South's "sporing" bid of one no trump in situations such as this. Partner has received no warning and carries on the right against the expected competition to his great disaster. One cannot expect always to be right in these situations, but I am persuaded that the pass will be wiser in most cases.

Q. 7—Partner opens with one club and you hold:
Q J 7 4 ♥ J 6 3 ♦ K 7 4 2 ♠ 9 5
What is your response?

A—The choice lies between one spade and one diamond, with our vote going to the latter. This is a common sense response and is calculated to make the opener's rebid as easy as possible. If he has a secondary heart or spade suit he may show it at the level of one. A spade response by you would make it difficult for partner to show the heart suit if he has it. The only highly improper response would be one no trump. This would make it impossible for partner to rebid at the level of one, which he might well desire to do.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
Q 10 8 6 ♥ 6 5 ♦ AK 4 3 ♠ 7 5 2
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
1 spade Pass 1 no trump Pass
2 hearts Pass 4 hearts Pass
Pass
What is your opening lead?

A—A trump. This is better than first taking a look with the king of diamonds. You must start getting dummy's trumps out so that declarer will have less opportunity to ruff spades, which you have well bottled up. When you get in with a diamond, as is very likely, you will be able to lead another trump in an effort to complete your salubrious plan.

Dividing Up The Empire Again

Maybe it's a far-fetched notion, but as things are shaping up it is possible that at some future date the reigning British monarch will be handed a note advising her that her son has been tossed out of school and that he cannot get back in until she visits the teacher to iron out the troubles he's in. Yes, just like many another young Britisher, eight-year-old Prince Charles is a full-time pupil at a public school in London. Lest terminology lead some readers astray, let it be noted that an English public school corresponds to a private school in the U.S. Even so, this schooling for Charles, who is being prepared to fill his mother's shoes one of these days, is a departure from precedent, and the British dearly love precedents.

None of those the young prince is expected to join in the long line of British ruling heads ever had other than governess-tutor schooling until he was well into his 'teen years. Charles' chance to rub elbows with other boys in a regular school is generally accepted as a victory for his dad, the Duke of Edinburgh, who is said to have been anxious to get his son away from the nannies and governesses of the royal residences. The development may indicate the duke and the queen have agreed to split up the empire. The queen will be left to rule all that is Britain save the family hearth. That is to be the duke's special domain.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

I Dig You

I have received this postal card:

"Dear Mr. Sokolsky,

"We thank you very much for your article on (sigh) Elvis Presley. We think he is the most. Elvis is here to stay. Too many people make up vicious lies and the parents believe these lies. We're glad some old people like him.

Sincerely yours,

The E. P. Fan Club of Mack, O."

I resent very much being called old even by a youngster. How old is old, young one? How do you measure age?

I know lots of young people who were born aged and tired and peevish. One wonders whether they suffer from tapeworm or cholesterol which is a lipid that coats the arteries and eventually gives you an occlusion, if you know what I mean?

I ain't old, kid. Not me. I was born toward the end of the 19th Century. Your crowd, I take it, was born between World War I and World War II which brings you into this era without any very sad experiences. You will get those in the next depression or the next war. But that will not make you any older than you should be, or should I use the word, riper?

Yes, riper is a better word. Or, maybe we should use the word, mellow. That is a very good word because it means that you have absorbed a lot of experience and have grown softer and more objective and you don't get sore so easily and you can be calm and even quiet without taking tranquilizers.

Now, you say: "Elvis is here to stay." There you go too far. Nobody is here to stay. A few years and we pass away forgotten. How many Presidents of the United States do you remember anything about? How many Vice Presidents? How many Presidents' wives? Try that and see if it wins you any money on television where they have to give money away to get you to listen to some programs. Still, some people remember plenty, but not about Presidents' wives. There was a time, I'll bet you, when everybody thought that a President's wife had to be called Eleanor. But now we have a Mamie. And maybe the next one will be Pat. And the first one was Martha. You get my point: nobody is here to stay.

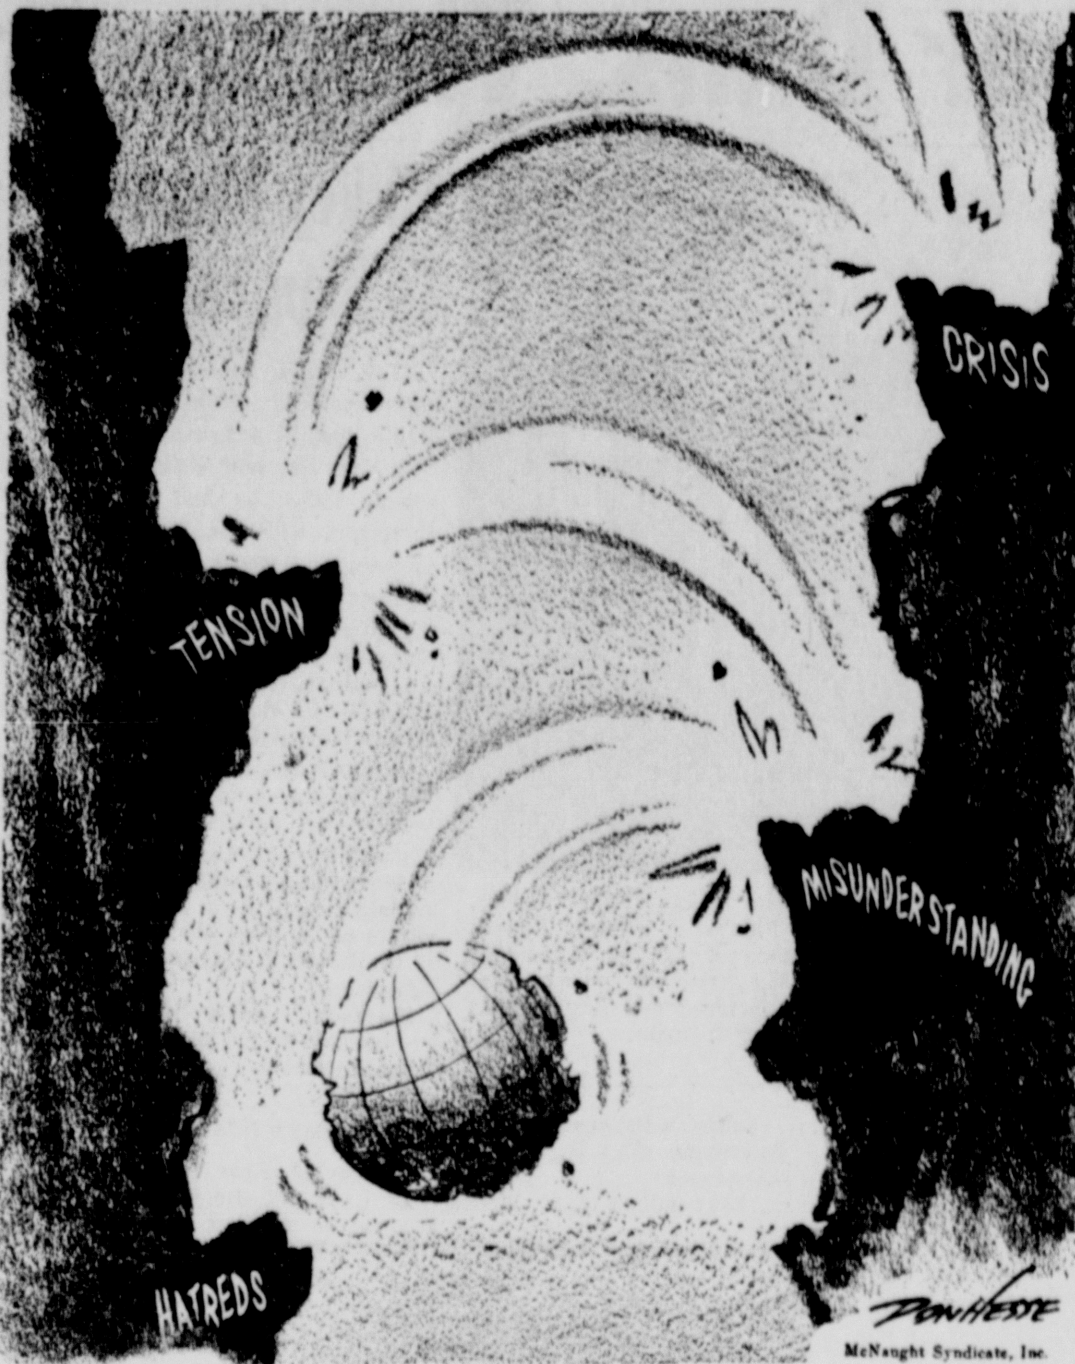

And that is very lucky because if anyone were here to stay, how would we ever hear your favorite Elvis? We would still be listening to Al Jolson, or Caruso or somebody like that. But they went their way, as all folks do, and different ones came along and nobody much cares who was here yesterday as long as someone is here today.

And that is the funny thing about human affairs: someone is always here today. Over in Russia, when Stalin died, everybody wondered who would take his place. Well someone did, the same as here, when Franklin D. Roosevelt died, Harry Truman took his place, and while Harry Truman was President some folks figured that he was the best pianist ever to get room and board in the White House. But now that he is away from Washington and out of circulation, lots of people figure that he was not so bad, after all.

That's the way it goes with Presidents, with singers and with everybody. You've got it all wrong when you say in your postal card that somebody makes up a lot of lies and that parents believe lies. Parents aren't so dumb. Most of them have been around a long time and have seen plenty and when they say that young people ought to wait before they commit themselves to a folly, they usually know what they're talking about.

Take those two kids out Chicago way, 13 and 15, who teamed up with a pair of morons and were found dead. Do you think those two girls had any sense? Somewhere along the line, they should have been put across a knee and given an old-fashioned spanking, the kind that hurt the parents more than it did the kids. They saw an Elvis picture nearly a dozen times. When did they do their homework? If they had been spanked, they'd probably be alive today to go see an Elvis movie for the 13th time. Any old parent can tell you that — from experience.

On The Stick And The Carrot In Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON

The Congressional debate over "the Eisenhower Doctrine" has caused almost everybody to forget what sparked the Middle Eastern explosion in the first place.

The British and French invaded Egypt, after all, essentially because Egypt's President Abdel Gamal Nasser seized the Suez Canal. They did so because they believed that their very existence was threatened by the control of the canal by a hostile dictator. And their abortive invasion has now made one point crystal clear—that Western Europe is pathetically dependent on the Middle Eastern oil, the bulk of which must be shipped through the canal.

The canal is to be partly opened for shipping before this month ends, and wholly opened by the end of March. On what terms are the ships bearing their vital cargo of oil to pass through the canal?

If the answer is "on Nasser's terms," then the future dependence of our major allies on the dictator who hates them will be complete. And Nasser is evidently determined to reopen the canal on his terms, and his terms only. Even before the canal has been reopened, he has already used it as an instrument of political blackmail, more than hinting that British and French ships will be denied the use of the canal unless he has his way in his dispute with Israel.

Suppose that the canal is opened without any prior agreement on terms. Suppose that the first ships pay a toll direct to the Egyptian government — otherwise the Egyptians need only refuse to supply pilots. Once this principle is established, Nasser will have the stranglehold on the canal, and thus on the economy ies of our allies, which he wants.

In this situation, the policy of the American government appears to be to "rely on the United Nations" — specifically on United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold. Hammarskjold will probably go to Cairo soon to negotiate with Nasser on the terms for the canal opening. (He has asked all the governments concerned, incidentally, to say nothing in advance, to avoid frozen positions — this is one reason why so little has been heard of what is, after all, the key issue in the Middle Eastern crisis.)

The Western powers hope that Hammarskjold will be able to negotiate with Nasser along the following lines. First, tolls will be established by the Canal Users Association under some sort of United Nations auspices, and split, probably fifty-fifty, between Egypt and the association. Second, Egypt's share will be used initially to indemnify the stockholders of the Suez Canal Company. And finally, Nasser will firmly agree to the principle of free passage through the canal.

If Hammarskjold can negotiate such terms, he will deserve a whole slew of medals. Yet it is difficult to see why Nasser will agree to any terms whatsoever which will deprive him of his blackmail power. There is no reason why he should.

Tired Arm Syndrome Caused By Too Much Work

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The tired arm syndrome is one of the latest medical conditions to be described. According to Dr. Frank R. Ford, of Johns Hopkins university, the disturbance favors middle-aged women, particularly those who do their own housework.

Most victims complain of an aching, throbbing pain in the forearm, resembling a toothache. Distress usually develops at night and is severe enough to awaken the sufferer from sleep. Changing position or massaging the arm seldom helps; more relief is obtained by getting out of bed and walking the floor. Pain recurs, however, on returning to bed.

Meanwhile, the hand feels numb and by morning is so stiff it won't limber up unless massaged. The victim is not bothered during the day except when she holds or grasps an object with a strong grip. Numbness reappears, which again is relieved by rest and massage. The right arm is affected in the right handed, and the left arm in the southpaw. Now and then both sides are involved, but the dominant arm is affected most.

Dr. Ford has seen a number of these patients and has not been able to uncover the slightest abnormality. There is no pressure on nerves and no evidence of wasting or weakness of muscles. Circulation is good and neither neuritis nor arthritis can be detected along the involved area.

He concluded that the disorder is due to excessive muscular exertion and strain. Some patients had lost their maids during the war and were forced to do all the household chores. Others worked constantly because of an obsession to dirt.

This physician believes the condition may be related to writer's cramp, restless leg, or shin splints. The latter affects athletes on the track team who overexert early in the season. The muscles next to the shin bone become painful and tender.

The tired arm syndrome responds to a rest period of two weeks. But some women are unable to cooperate because they insist upon doing their housework, or they have to earn a living in this way. The alternative is a sedative that lulls them to sleep and keeps them somewhat lazy during the day.

GOP Senators Change Their Plans For Secret Foreign Policy Probe

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — One of the healthiest recent decisions of the Senate is to investigate American policy in the Near East, dating back to the Truman administration. The decision was reached after a closed-door debate that the public doesn't know about.

For some time Republican Senators had argued, both privately and publicly, against any probe of Dulles's policies. Senator Aiken of Vermont argued that such a probe would be dangerous, would destroy the Secretary of State. Senator Fulbright of Arkansas, who initiated the idea, argued that if such an investigation would destroy him, then Dulles's policies were seriously lacking.

Finally, in closed-door session, Sen. Dick Russell of Georgia spoke up, calm and brief. He had not said much before.

"Now, gentlemen," he asked, "do you really wish this country to believe that you don't want the people to know about the conduct of our foreign affairs? Do you want this to be a strict party vote against any investigation?"

There was a sudden hush on the Republican side, followed by whispers. GOP Senators suggested a delay of 48 hours, then 24 hours, obviously to consult. Finally they agreed to come back at 10 A. M. next day.

Why U. S. Base?

At that time they voted unanimously to proceed with the full investigation of the Near East under both Eisenhower and Truman.

This column would be delighted to suggest to the Senators where they can get some important information. Part of it is covered with dust right in their own files. Very important, for instance, is why the U. S. air base in Saudi Arabia was actually established.

President Eisenhower discussed with King Saud last week a renewed lease on this base, and it was reported that the King wanted a sizable amount of American arms in return. However, Senate records of the old Brewster Investigating Committee show good reason to believe that this base was originally established not because it was of any military value, but to please the American oil companies which already have reaped a fortune from Saudi Arabia.

Sensors will find in their files a report by Brigadier General Donald P. Booth, assistant to the Undersecretary of War, dated 1946, which is classified secret. To it, General Booth attached the following warning:

"It is believed particularly important that this classification (secret) be respected. If there is any part of the subject matter which you wish to declassify for publication, it is requested that the matter be referred to the War Department and the State Department for clearance."

I can reveal, however, that Booth's report showed that the British in July 1944 blocked the U. S. base until May 5, 1945 on the ground that they, the British, already had four bases in Arabia which we could use. May 5, 1945 was one day before the war ended in Europe. And on that day it was decided to go ahead with the Dahrhan base on the belief that it would cut off air miles in flying from Cairo to Karachi.

State Department Wanted Base

One week later, the war in Europe being over, the War Department suddenly reversed itself and wanted to cancel the Saudi Arabian base. It saw no reason for it. But the State Department argued otherwise. For reasons not specified but understood to be the protection of American oil companies, the State Department demanded that the base be built.

The State Department carried the argument up to President Truman, and on Sept. 28, 1945 he OK'd the base, provided a new contract was drawn, giving the United States all postwar air rights, and provided Congress voted the necessary funds.

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

Are you by any chance an expectant papa? How far off is the great event? Is the new arrival expected in the Spring? It was none other than Dr. Allan R. Dafee, who said "Children born in the spring have a low death rate in infancy. The birth of persons who achieve distinction rise to high proportions in that season. Children born in the spring are more intelligent than those born in the summer and still more so than those born in winter."

SO THEY SAY

The percentage of divorce is highest among Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) women. They usually lose out in their first love affair or first marriages. The Virgo women make unusually good wives but usually have to marry twice to prove it. Or, so say the stargazers.

PASSING BY

Lisa Kirk. Vivacious, vibrant, versatile, vocalist. Before she took up her highly successful career as a chanteuse, Lisa was a Sunday school teacher in Charleroi, Pa. This brings to mind that Rhonda Fleming was also once a Sunday school teacher. In my schooldays I had no teachers looking like Lisa or Rhonda. If I had, I would have gone broke buying apples.

SIDELIGHTS

An old maid is very hard to find in Korea. Ninety-nine per cent of Korean girls become wives. As mothers, they average seven children each. . . . It was Paulette Goddard, who said, "Slacks are an abomination. Shorts are all right, but skirts are better. Women just weren't built for wearing trousers."

PROPOSALS

Between the ages of 19 and 25 the average woman gets at least three proposals of marriage. So research is reported to reveal. Does this check with your wife's experience? Who were the other two fellows who proposed to her besides you? How are they doing now? Do you ever wonder if your wife wishes she had accepted one of them?

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

That fellow who was nabbed for throwing pies at people was born too late. In silent movie days he could have become a great comedian.

However, Sen. Owen Brewster of Maine, then head of the Senate Investigating Committee, was unable to find that Congress had ever authorized the $4,000,000 spent on the base. Furthermore, he reported that no new contract was drawn.

"The Army presented King Ibn Saud with an airplane," Brewster remarked at that time, "and it looked as if the airfield was built to please the King—so his plane would have a place to land."

Senator Brewster also turned up amazing evidence showing how the oil companies dominated American policy in the Near East. This will be described in a subsequent column.

Note—Since then, a ring of American bases has been built in Turkey, just as close, if not closer to Russia, than Saudi Arabia. The United States also holds a series of bases in Greece, almost as close to Russia. All this makes it appear that the Saudi Arabian base is even less necessary today than when the War Department turned thumbs down in 1943. The real purpose, it appears, is to supply a base for the planes and personnel of the Arabian American Oil Company and have a protective American base near its property.

Truman Doctrine

Senators may also want to go back to another incident in the Truman administration—the manner in which Standard Oil of New Jersey and Standard Oil of New York purchased 40 per cent of the Arabian American Oil Company just a few days before President Truman announced his Truman doctrine for Greece and Turkey.

The question is: Did they know this doctrine was coming? Or did they inspire the doctrine? Or was their timing just a coincidence? The doctrine was aimed at blocking Russia from penetrating down to Suez and the eastern end of the Mediterranean — just as the Dulles doctrine is today.

Another point which Senator Brewster investigated during the Truman administration was the American oil shortage of 1947 and the resultant import of oil from the Near East.

Brewster claimed that the 1947 oil shortage in the USA was a phony, had been arranged by the big oil companies in order to convince the American public of the necessity of importing larger quantities of Arabian oil, which in turn emphasized the importance of spending American dollars to protect American oil interests in the Near East.

TORCH SONG

Tommy Lyman. Veteran night spot entertainer. Among the many songs he has popularized were "Montmartre Rose" and "Melancholy Baby." He wrote the first torch song and originated the saying "carrion the torch." The song was titled "When The Gang's All Here," which included the lines "each tear seems to scorch when you carry the torch."

IN FEW WORDS

"In affairs of love," observed Marie Corelli, "a woman is perhaps most easily ensnared by a man who can combine passion with pleasant and hot pursuit with social tact and diplomacy." . . . Ovid said, "Forbear to attribute to all women the guilt of a few. Let each be judged by her own merits." (Note—Keep Ovid's observation in mind, sir, when tempted to say, "Now isn't that just like a woman.")

POODLES

The French poodle continues to increase in popularity in this country. This type of poodle originated in Russia, where it was a hunting dog. It was imported to France during the reign of Louis XV. It is said of the French poodle that it is the only dog that doesn't mind being laughed at.

BRIEFLY

The most important players on a baseball club in the order named are catcher, pitcher, shortstop and second baseman. You say you don't agree? All right, start arguing. . . . Am asked what a "New England breakfast" is. It is as follows: "Baked beans, fishballs, brown bread and apple pie."

PLEASE NOTE

In England a bird picked up a lighted cigaret and after flying a little way dropped it or a house. The house caught fire and was burned to the ground. That could happen here. When you throw a cigaret take time to stamp it out. Or smoke cigarets that cease burning when not being smoked.

350 At Dinner Of Dapper Dans, Thompson Is Honored

Dr. Shrout Gives Plaque To GWU Star

Numerous Sports Celebrities Attend 9th Annual Event

Three hundred and fifty persons turned out for the ninth annual dinner of the Cumberland Chapter of the Dapper Dan Club last night at the Knights of Columbus Home, saw and heard many celebrities of the sports world and witnessed the presentation of a plaque to Paul "Bubbles" Thompson, of Midland, who was adjudged as the athlete who did most to publicize Allegany County during the year 1956.

Dr. Robert Earl Shrout, vice president of the local Dapper Dan Club, presented the plaque to Thompson, co-captain and end of George Washington University's football team that won the Sun Bowl game at El Paso, Texas, on New Year's Day.

Thompson, a graduate of Beall High School, who was named to the All-Southern Conference team last year, said that he was grateful to the committee that selected him for the honor, praised the work being done at the clinics of the Crippled Children's League which he once attended and said this was "one of the happiest days of my life." The GWU star was the seventh Allegany countian to be honored since the first plaque was presented in 1951.

Morrie Siegel, sports writer on the Washington News and also TV sportscaster for a capital city station, served as master of ceremonies and kept the program moving in fine style. He was introduced by William V. Keegan, Cumberland police and fire commissioner, newly elected president of the local Dapper Dans and chairman of the celebrities committee.

After Mayor Roy W. Eves delivered the address of welcome, Siegel stated that anyone arrested should contact the mayor and he'll see that they get out of jail when their time is up.

Rabbi Makes Remarks

Rabbi Gabriel Maza, of Beth Jacob Congregation, told of sport idols of his boyhood days. He said Lou Gehrig was belting them out of the stadium in the daytime and Joe Louis was belting them out at night but he never expected to be in the same room with Lefty Grove.

"Sports are an integral part of our lives," Rabbi Maza declared. "Children get a sense of values from sports and it's nice that sports figures mingle with people who look up to them. God bless this land with this sense of values and God bless the Dapper Dans."

Enos Presents Baseball

Enos "Country" Slaughter, New York Yankee outfielder, was introduced as the "darndest hustler of them all" by Siegel. "Why that guy even runs in and out of the shower room," Morrie stated.

After Slaughter presented a baseball autographed by the Yankees to Clyde D. Cook, Jr., youthful representative of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children, Siegel stated that Enos expects to retire from baseball 30 years from now.

Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove, Rhy Lester, Gwynn Fletcher, John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, William P. Hahn, George Geatz, Gene Shaw, Chester Payne, Thomas O'Connor, Robert F. Pence were introduced in rapid-fire order as were a delegation from the University of Maryland, namely, Rod Bredevoe, Dick Scarbath, Barry Sterner, Ken Poling, John McVicker, Ron Shaffer, Joe Moss, Gene Alderton and Joe Blair, sports publicist at College Park.

All City Team Present

Then came the introduction of the 1956 all-city team, George Stimmel, Harold Counihan, Larry Cessna, Carl Haysbaugh, Dalton Hillegas, Tom Snyder, Carl Brown, "Rumples" Rice, Tom Joyce, Mickey Bush, Jerry McGreevy, Joe Cioni, John Kesler, and Dave Conley. Hillegas, Snyder and Brown also made the all-state selections.

Others mentioned were Jack Dillon, of Stamford, Conn., former U. S. Olympic team ice skater; John J. "Suds" Cavanaugh; (Continued on Page 9, Col. 7)

Basketball Games Scheduled Tonight

Four high school basketball games are scheduled in the tri-state area tonight.

West Virginia School for the Deaf of Romney opens its series with the Hornets of Hyndman High School on the latter's court and Mountaineer High School hosts Parsons High on the Thomas court in the finale of their series. Parsons won the first game, 67-61.

The Circleville Indians journey to Marlinton to windup their annual series. Marlinton took the opener by the score of 55-39.

Northern High School's Huskies of Garrett County are scheduled to play at Bayard tonight. Northern captured the opening game of this series by the score of 36-35.

SPORT CELEBS AT D.D. DINNER—Notables of the sports world gathered for the ninth annual dinner of the Cumberland Dapper Dan Club last night and in this group, left to right, are: Henry "Dutch" Dehnert, star of the once famous New York Original Celtics pro basketball team and inventor of the pivot play; Art Donovan, tackle of the Baltimore Colts, National Football League team; Gus Triandos, catcher-first baseman and slugger of the Baltimore Orioles; Dick Groat, infielder, and Ronnie Kline, pitcher, of the Pittsburgh Pirates; Eugene "Bo" Sherman, head football coach of George Washington University, and Enos "Country" Slaughter, veteran outfielder of the New York Yankees. Three hundred and fifty persons attended last night's affair at the K. of C. Home.

THOMPSON RECEIVES PLAQUE—Dr. Robert Earl Shrout, left, vice president of the Cumberland Dapper Dan Club, presents plaque to Paul "Bubbles" Thompson, of Midland, co-captain and end of George Washington University's football team at ninth annual dinner last night at the K. of C. Home. A committee selected Thompson, a graduate of Beall High School, as the athlete who did most to publicize Allegany County in sports during 1956. Eugene "Bo" Sherman, Thompson's coach, was among those attending the dinner. Thompson is the seventh Allegany countian to earn the award since 1951.

NFL Owners Wait No Part Of Players' Association

Grid Loop Votes Down Expansion

Bell Says Circuit Will Not Recognize Bargaining Agent

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 3 (AP)—National Football League owners want no part of a players' association.

"We will not recognize anybody as a bargaining agent," Commissioner Bert Bell said last night.

In another major move, the owners voted down a motion to expand the league to 14 teams in 1958. The vote was 8 to 3, with the Chicago Cardinals abstaining. Seven cities had applied for franchises, including Buffalo, N.Y., whose representative made a personal pitch at a Friday session.

Bell said of the owners' refusal to recognize the players' association organized last December in New York:

"But we gave them everything they want anyway."

There seems, however, to be a difference of opinion on that. Norman Van Brocklin of the Los Angeles Rams and Kyle Rote of the New York Giants, who represented the players in making proposals to the league, expressed disappointment.

Rote Is Surprised

Van Brocklin said "my reaction is that they haven't done anything for us." Rote said he was "quite surprised that they didn't recognize us as an association."

Briefly, here is what owners announced they were giving the players compared with what was asked:

1. All teams will pay transportation and expenses of players to training camp, and expenses and transportation home of players dropped. This is not new and was not a part of the player demands.

2. Clubs will provide all game equipment for league games—not asked by the players although on some clubs they had to buy their own shoes.

3. All players, whenever practical, shall eat in a group. When such is impractical, the club shall advance each player $9 a day for meals and $12 a day for meals and lodging. The players asked $8 and $12.

Wanted Extra Pay

4. A player under contract may draw $50 against his salary after each pre-season game. A player who fails to make the team need not repay the advance. The players asked for extra pay for pre-season games, not an advance against their salaries.

5. A shorter training season, except for members of the championship team preparing for the game against the College All-Stars. Specifically, clubs can't start training until nine weeks before the season opens. Previously training camps had opened as early as the first week in July to prepare for opening games, usually in the last week of September. This met a player demand.

Van Brocklin said "we requested inclusion of an injury clause, which they haven't given us. We requested training camp expenses, which they haven't given us. We requested minimum pay, which they haven't given us."

Promised Hearing

He added that "Bell has promised us another hearing. If nothing is done, then we'll get together and try to find our own solution." He wouldn't guess what that would be.

Bell said the injury clause was not included in the league program because "there never has been a ball player injured in the line of duty who has not been compensated in full." The player requested for a $5,000 minimum salary was rejected because, said the commissioner, "there is no player in the league who doesn't receive over this minimum. If there is one and he tells me about it, I'll see that it's corrected."

Cards of Thanks

We take this means of thanking all our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind to us during our recent sad bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and father, John R. Fradiska. We especially wish to thank those who sent floral tributes, those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral and the pallbearers. To all others who in any manner rendered assistance, we are indeed grateful. The Fradiska Family

Youth Dies As Auto Plunges Into Creek

Three Others Hurt In Area Accidents

An 18-year-old Cabins, W. Va., youth was killed and at least three persons were injured in two separate accidents which occurred on West Virginia highways over the weekend.

Authorities said William "Billie" Eugene Harman, died of drowning or from injuries sustained when a car went out of control on U. S. Route 50 near Mt. Storm and plunged into Stony Creek.

Cpl D. E. Adams of the Petersburg detachment of the West Virginia State Police, said Harman's body was found about 100 feet downstream from the car, which rolled over several times after leaving the highway.

Also injured in the crash was Udel Mongold, 18, of Maysville, who is a patient in Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser. Attached at the hospital declined to give the patient's condition or his injuries last night. State Police are continuing an investigation.

Crawls Onto Car

They said Mongold was able to crawl from the wreckage onto the overturned car, and was rescued and taken to the hospital by a passing motorist.

Police said the car failed to negotiate a curve while traveling down a hill, and careened off to the right of Stony River Bridge into the swift stream.

The water was about two and half feet where the car plunged into the stream about 10:30 p. m. Saturday, and the crash occurred about a mile west of Mt. Storm as the car was traveling in the direction of that community.

Two Hurt In Crash

In the other accident, at least two persons were injured although West Virginia authorities were unable to give a full report on the crash which occurred about 12:30 a. m. yesterday along State Route 4 and 28 about six miles south of Petersburg.

Taken to Potomac Valley Hospital was Carl Calhoun, 18, of Brushy Run, driver of the car in which four persons were riding. Police said the driver suffered a fractured leg after being thrown from the car onto the highway.

A girl passenger in the car was also injured when thrown from the car. However, authorities were unable to identify her or two other young girls who were riding in the car. An investigation continues.

Assisting Cpl. Adams in the one accident was Trooper John Lee-son, also of the Petersburg detachment.

Harman was a son of Garland and Evelyn J. (Sponaugle) Harman, and was born October 22, 1938 at Maysville.

Surviving, in addition to his parents, are four brothers, Jack, Johnny, James and Richard, all of Petersburg; maternal grandmother, Mrs. Mary E. Sponaugle, Riverton, W. Va., and paternal grandmother, Mrs. Betty Harman, Maysville.

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. at Maysville Gospel Tabernacle by Rev. Lowell R. Rogers, pastor, assisted by Rev. Lester Goldizer. Burial will be in Maysville Cemetery.

The body will be at the Schaefer Funeral Home, Petersburg, after 1 p. m. today.

Students Sign Statements In Fatal Accident

Willard Lewellen Earle, 17, of Moorefield, W. Va., driver of an automobile which apparently went out of control in Westernport Friday night, crashed into a tree and caused the death of Robert C. Marshall, 16, also of Moorefield, was questioned Saturday morning in the state's attorney's office here along with four other passengers in the car.

Edwin R. Lilya, Allegany County criminal investigator, said last night the young driver and four other passengers, students at Moorefield High School, were released in the custody of a Moorefield attorney after they signed statements.

Earle told authorities the Friday night trip into Westernport was his first to the community and he was unfamiliar with State Route 135 there.

He said the car skidded before going up over a curb on the right side of the highway. It had been raining prior to the fatal accident. After traveling for a distance of about 62 feet the car rammed into the tree and was demolished.

The victim was taken to Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser and died while being examined. Death was caused by a fractured skull. The only other person injured was Miss Sue Sparks, who was riding in the front seat with the driver and the victim.

She suffered facial cuts and bruises. The driver told authorities he was traveling from 15 to 20 miles an hour at the time of the crash. The students were en route to Piedmont to attend a basketball game.

Eagles Plan Observance

Cumberland Aerie 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will participate in a nationwide observance of the 59th anniversary of the fraternity, with special programs this week, according to Ira M. Boyer, aerie president.

Two of the activities are scheduled for Saturday. At 1 p. m. a delegation of members of the local aerie will assemble at the City Hall Plaza and release 20 huge Freedom balloons.

On Saturday evening beginning at 9 o'clock an "Old Time Dance" will be held with old time music, quartets, singing and dancing.

Fire Marshal Bill Is Given County Support

Association Holds Meeting At LaVale

Allegany-Garrett County Firemen's Association at a meeting yesterday in LaVale Fire Hall endorsed a legislative bill for a county fire marshal, in the event a state fire marshal measure fails to pass the General Assembly.

A recent appearance of the orchestra in Connellsville, Pa., brought out a capacity crowd and received high praise from those in attendance.

According to a Connellsville newspaper "a new chapter in the aesthetic and cultural forms of entertainment" was attained when the orchestra appeared in that city.

Under the masterful baton of William Steinberg, orchestra conductor, the first selection of the symphony was Mozart's Overture to the "Marriage of Figaro" and next was Schubert's Symphony No. 6 in C-Major in four movements.

"Each movement was developed under Steinberg's skillful artistry with superb precision, in which were heard the fluid tones of the woodwinds in contrast to the muted string section," said the review.

The newspaper account pointed out the impelling force in the Prelude to "Die Meistersinger" by Wagner, when the composition was intensified with a brass supplement, brought thunderous applause from the audience.

The ever-popular "Emperor Waltz," by Strauss, its light, airy tempo, leading into more profound strains, particularly in the string section, again brought rounds of applause from an appreciative audience.

Dr. Charles L. Kopp, general chairman of the program sponsored by the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company, said last night that while they last, the unsold tickets will be available tonight at the box office at the auditorium.

Proceeds will be given to worthy causes suggested by community leaders.

THOMAS F. CONLON JR.

Tom Conlon Jr. Named Leader In Heart Drive

Heads Business Group In City

As the February Heart fund campaign, launched by the Allegany-Garrett Heart Association gets under way here, leaders in various fields are organizing their sections and teams.

Thomas F. Conlon Jr., 529 Avirett Avenue, local insurance executive, has been named to head a Cumberland Business Section in the drive. He said yesterday he is enlisting the assistance of members of the Cumberland Life Underwriters Association to make up his team workers.

Conlon explained that members of Life Underwriters worked on the drive last year, and volunteered their services again this year. Nationally, he noted, Life Underwriters have endorsed the annual Heart Fund drive and the work of local state and national heart associations, particularly in the fields of research, treatment and prevention of heart maladies.

Frequently identified with fund raising and other civic activities here, Conlon is a son of the local postmaster, is a life-long resident of the city and has been engaged in the general insurance business for a number of years.

He is a veteran of World War II, serving in the South Pacific Campaigns and at present is a member of Headquarters Company, first battalion, 115th Infantry, Maryland National Guard, in which he holds the rank of first lieutenant.

He is a member of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, Henry Hart Post 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Cumberland Lodge 271 Loyal Order of Moose, Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce, and the Young Democrats. He has held numerous offices in the latter two organizations.

Conlon is married and is the father of a six-weeks-old daughter, Mary Gertrude Conlon.

In commenting on the campaign last night he noted that the association has a goal of $16,015, needed to continue the heart program in these two westernmost counties of the state, and also to aid research and treatment.
